2. All references in this Office Action to the capitalized versions of "Applicants" refers specifically the Applicants of record. References to lower case versions of "applicant" or "applicants" refers to any or all patent "applicants." Unless expressly noted otherwise, references to "Examiner" in this Office Action refers to the Examiner of record while reference to or use of the lower case version of "examiner" or "examiners" refers to examiner(s) generally.
3. This Office Action is written in OACS. Because of this, the Examiner is unable to control formatting, paragraph numbering, font, spelling, line spacing, and/or other word processing issues. The Examiner sincerely apologizes for these errors.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC §102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. §102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office Action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States. . .

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Art Unit: 3627

5. Claims 1-8, 10, 21-23, and 28-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. §102(b) as being anticipated by an ordinary e-commerce session and a user's home wireless network. In this case, a home user has a first computer ("First Home Computer) with a DSL or cable based Internet connection and a Bastion Host and gateway server (both old and well known) to connect to the Internet. The Bastion Host and gateway server is the mediator. The home user has a second client computer connected to the First Home Computer via an a connection. In its ordinary and usual operation, the system would receive a request for a web page from the client device (at the First Home Computer); sending the request to the merchant web site (from the First Home Computer via the Internet connection via the Bastion host and gateway server); receiving the requested information from the merchant web site at the mediator (at and gateway server); transforming the information into a predetermined communications protocols (virtually all protocols by definition are predetermined); and a display format (English language) at the mediator; the First Home Computer provides at least payment services (but for the First Home Computer, the transaction would not occur); adding and deleting items from a shopping cart and then purchasing those items (inherent in e-commerce systems); a plurality of different protocols such as TCP/IP, HTTP, and SS7 (inherent in the Internet).

6. Claims 1, 8, and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. §102(b) as being anticipated by Purcell (U.S. 5,940,807). Purcell discloses an ordinary e-commerce system with a mediator. In particular Purcell discloses: receiving a request for a web page from the client device at 16; sending the request to a merchant website (sending the request to 21); retrieving the requested information from the merchant website (the product info such as description, price, etc.); transferring the information into a predetermined information protocol, transferring the data from the merchant database to an Internet based protocol) and a predetermined display format (English language); sending the information via the network to the client device.

7. It is the Examiner's position that computers at gateway servers for web based requests are old and well known in the art. See e.g. Ilnicki et. al. (U.S. 6,751,677 B1); Salo et. al. (U.S. 6,609,148 B1); Deisinger et. al. (U.S. 6,397,220 B1); Starkovitch et. al. (U.S. 6,212,546); Blakley III, et. al. (U.S. 6,067,623); Kleinerman (U.S. 6,041,365); Kramer (U.S. 6,002,767); Reed et. al. (U.S. 5,903,732); Blackwell Jr. et. al. (U.S. 5,857,191); and Leaf (U.S. 5,754,772).

8. The Examiner concludes that Applicants have decided not to be their own lexicographer by indicating and defining claim limitations to have meanings other than their ordinary and accustomed meanings. To support this position, the Examiner relies on the following factual findings. First and as noted in the previous Office Action,¹ the Examiner has carefully reviewed the specification and prosecution history and can not locate any lexicographic definition(s). Second, the Examiner finds that not only have Applicants not pointed to definitional statements in their specification or prosecution history, Applicants have also not pointed to a term or terms in a claim with which to draw in those statements² with the required clarity, deliberateness, and precision.³ Third, after receiving express notice in the previous Office Action of the Examiner's

³ "The patentee's lexicography must, of course, appear 'with reasonable clarity, deliberateness, and precision' before it can affect the claim." Renishaw PLC v. Marposs Societa' per Azioni, 158 position that lexicography is not invoked,⁴ Applicants have not pointed out the “supposed errors” in the Examiner’s position regarding lexicography invocation in accordance with 37 C.F.R. §1.111(b) (i.e. Applicants have not argued lexicography is invoked). Finally and to be sure of Applicants’ intent, the Examiner also notes that Applicants have declined the Examiner’s express invitation⁵ to be their own lexicographer.⁶ Accordingly and for due process purposes, the Examiner gives notice that for the remainder of the examination process (and unless expressly noted otherwise by the Examiner), the heavy presumption in favor of the ordinary and accustomed meaning is not overcome; the claims therefore continue to be interpreted with their “broadest reasonable interpretation” In re Morris, 127 F.3d 1048, 1054, 44 USPQ2d 1023, 1027 (Fed. Cir. 1997).⁷ The Examiner now relies heavily and extensively on this interpretation.⁸

F.3d 1243, 1249, 48 USPQ2d 1117, 1121 (Fed. Cir. 1998) citing In re Paulsen, 30 F.3d 1475, 1480, 31 USPQ2d 1671, 1674 (Fed. Cir. 1994).

⁶ The Examiner’s requirements on this matter were reasonable on at least two separate and independent grounds. First, the Examiner’s requirements were simply an express request for clarification of how Applicants intend their claims to be interpreted so that lexicography (or even an attempt at lexicography) by Applicants was not inadvertently overlooked by the Examiner. Second, the requirements were reasonable in view of the USPTO’s goals of compact prosecution, productivity with particular emphasis on reductions in both pendency and cycle time, and other goals as outlined in the USPTO’s The 21st Century Strategic Plan, February 3, 2003 available at www.uspto.gov/web/offices/com/strat21/index.htm (last accessed May 9, 2005).

Unless expressly noted otherwise by the Examiner, the preceding claim interpretation principles in this paragraph apply to all examined claims currently pending.

9. Under the broadest reasonable interpretation standard noted above and unless modified in this Office Action, the Examiner maintains his interpretations including the statements and/or definitions of claim limitations as noted in previous Office Action. Those previous definitions are part of the administrative record and, in accordance with In re Morris, are provided simply as a factual source to support the Examiner's claim interpretations (and ultimately the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences claim interpretations if necessary⁹) during ex parte examination.

Response to Arguments

10. Applicants' arguments filed February 3, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

11. Applicants argue that the Examiner has taken Official Notice that the claims are anticipated. However a review of the previous office action (the Second Non Final Office Action) finds that this is not the case. Should the Examiner take official notice, the Examiner will make this unmistakably clear by using clear statements such as 'the Examiner takes Official Notice that . . . ' If the Examiner has inadvertently overlooked his own taking of Official Notice and if Applicants expressly point out where the Examiner has taken this alleged official notice, the Examiner will gladly address Applicants remarks at that time. However until the Examiner actually takes Official Notice, Applicants arguments with respect to Official Notice have been considered but are considered moot.

12. Applicants also argue that "it is not well known to use the second computer as a mediator as is alleged in the rejection."¹⁰ The Examiner respectfully disagrees. Pages 120-123 of Derfler et. Al.'s How Computer's Work state that the "Windows NT operating system and Windows applications [e.g. Internet Explorer] run in a shared server." Thus while some requests are sent to the Internet or other network without accessing the shared CPU server or database server, the interwoven aspects of Windows NT require certain functions to be performed on the servers. As noted in Derfler, the central servers runs a variety of management programs including file services, order taking, gateway software, and inventory.

13. With respect to Purcell, Applicants argue that "Purcell however fails to teach receiving a request for a web page from a client device. The Examiner respectfully disagrees. See the drawing on the cover page of Purcell where the client device is 41a and the merchant device is 21a.

Conclusion

14. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicants are reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 C.F.R. §1.136(a).

¹⁰ Applicants' remarks filed February 3, 2005, Page 8, last two lines.

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 C.F.R. §1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

15. References considered pertinent to Applicants' disclosure are listed on form PTO-892.

Unless expressly noted otherwise by the Examiner, all references listed on form PTO-892 are cited in their entirety.

16. The following two (2) citations to the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure ("MPEP") apply to this Office Action: MPEP citations to Chapters 100, 200, 500, 600, 700, 1000, 1100, 1300, 1400, 1500, 1700, 1800, 2000, 2100, 2200, 2500, 2600, and 2700 are from the MPEP 8th Edition, Rev. 2, May 2004. All remaining MPEP citations are from MPEP 8th Edition, August 2001.

17. Information regarding the status of an application may be obtained from the Patent Application Information Retrieval (PAIR) system. Status information for published applications may be obtained from either Private PAIR or Public PAIR. Status information for unpublished applications is available through Private PAIR only. For more information about the PAIR system, see <http://pair-direct.uspto.gov>. 18. Because this application is now final, Applicants are reminded of the USPTO's after final practice as discussed in MPEP §714.12 and §714.13 and that entry of amendments after final is not a matter of right. "The refusal of an examiner to enter an amendment after final rejection of claims is a matter of discretion." In re Berger, 279 F.3d 975, 984, 61 USPQ2d 1523, 1529 (Fed. Cir. 2002) (citations omitted). Furthermore, suggestions or examples of claim language provided by the Examiner are just that—suggestions or examples—and do not constitute a formal requirement mandated by the Examiner. Unless stated otherwise by an express indication that a claim is "allowed," exemplary claim language provided by the Examiner to overcome a particular rejection or to change claim interpretation has not been addressed with respect to other aspects of patentability (e.g. §101 patentable subject matter, §112 1st paragraph written description and enablement, §112 2nd paragraph indefiniteness, and §102 and §103 prior art). Therefore, any claim amendment submitted under 37 C.F.R. §1.116 that incorporates an Examiner suggestion or example or simply changes claim interpretation will nevertheless require further consideration and/or search and a patentability determination as noted above.

19. Also in accordance with In re Lee, 277 F.3d 1338, 1344-45, 61 USPQ2d 1430, 1434-35 (Fed. Cir. 2002), the Examiner finds that Nathan J. Muller's Desktop Encyclopedia of the Internet, ("Desktop Encyclopedia") is additional evidence of what is basic knowledge or common sense to one of ordinary skill in this art. Muller's Desktop Encyclopedia is a practical reference that clearly explains Internet services, applications, protocols, access methods, development tools, administration and management, standards, and regulations. Because of the reference's basic content (which is self-evident upon examination of the reference) and after further review of the entire record including the prior art now of record in conjunction with the factors as discussed in MPEP §2141.03 (where practical), the Examiner finds that the Desktop Encyclopedia is primarily directed towards those of low skill in this art. Because the reference is directed towards those of low skill in this art, the Examiner finds that one of ordinary skill in this art must—at the very least—be aware of and understand the knowledge and information contained within the Desktop Encyclopedia.

20. In accordance with the USPTO's goals of customer service, compact prosecution, and reduction of cycle time, the Examiner has made every effort to clarify his position regarding claim interpretation and any rejections or objections in this application. Furthermore, the Examiner has again provided Applicants with notice—for due process purposes—of his position regarding his factual determinations and legal conclusions. The Examiner notes and thanks Applicants for their remarks (beginning on page 7) traversing the Examiner's positions on various points. If Applicants disagree with any additional factual determination or legal conclusion made by the Examiner in this Office Action whether expressly stated or implied,¹¹ the Examiner respectfully reminds Applicants to properly traverse the Examiner's position(s) in accordance with 37 C.F.R. §1.111(b) in their next properly filed response. By addressing these issues now; matters where the Examiner and Applicants agree can be eliminated allowing the Examiner and Applicants to focus on areas of disagreement (if any) with the goal towards allowance in the shortest possible time. If Applicants have any questions regarding the Examiner's positions or have other questions regarding this communication or even previous communications, Applicants are strongly encouraged to contact Examiner Andrew J. Fischer whose telephone number is (571) 272-6779. If attempts to reach the Examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the Examiner's immediate supervisor, Robert Olszewski, can be reached at (571) 272-6788. The fax number for facsimile responses is now (703) 872-9306.
